

Hitchhiking benches

A new perspective on mobility

Dear reader,

Thank you for your interest towards this bench.

It results from a project developed by the quarter's Commission of Aldesago and Brè, in partnership with the City of Lugano.

Its way of working is uncomplicated, but we will nonetheless explain its basic way of functioning:

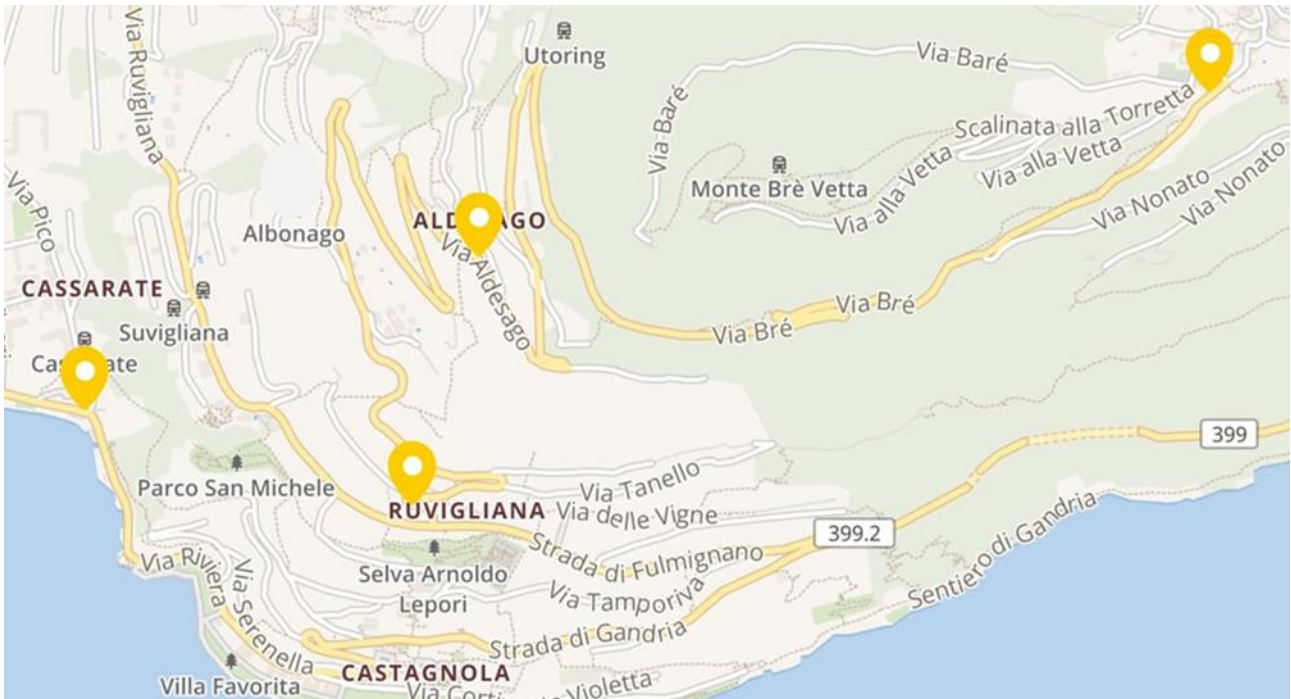

Would you like to give or get a ride and to experiment car sharing?

You are in the right place!

By sitting on this bench, or on any other of its yellow duplicates around town, you can indeed expect a driver to stop by to offer you a ride.

This service, fundamentally spontaneous between citizens, comes about as a free alternative to public transportation.

The following map locates the relative positions of the actual benches at your disposal, shared between Cassarate, Ruvigliana, Aldesago and Brè:

Legal terms:

As this service happens deliberately, the juridical responsibility befalls on both the driver and the passenger in case anything happens during the trip.

The City of Lugano cannot be held responsible for anything that might arise during one's trip.

We therefore recommend you to gear your critical mind and to cautiously pick your hitchhiking companions.

In the name of new perspectives on mobility, we wish you a safe and pleasant ride from and to the Monte Brè!
